The Environmental Science and Policy Program (ESPP) at Michigan State University invites students to contribute artwork to its premier annual event, the Fate of the Earth Symposium, held on April 13, 2019, at the Kellogg Hotel and Conference Center. This year, the symposium is focused on bringing together members of the public with distinguished environmental thinkers. Together, we will explore environmental issues and solutions from a wide range of perspectives, including science, technology, humanities, and policy.

Guidelines for Submissions:
We encourage students from all levels (K–12, undergraduate, and graduate) to contribute artwork to the symposium. Artwork should be related to humans’ relationship with the environment. Possible media include, but are not limited to, drawing, painting, photography, sculpture, music, and film. Accepted artwork will be displayed during the symposium, and selected artwork may also be featured on the symposium’s program and other materials.

Please send a high-quality jpeg image of the artwork to espp@msu.edu no later than March 16, 2019.

For more information on the event, please go to http://www.espp.msu.edu/events/fateoftheearth/2019/index.html
If you have any questions, please contact Caitlin Kirby (kirbycai@msu.edu) and Craig Kohn (kohncrai@msu.edu).