

Environmental Policy Meet and Greet

Would you like to know more about how government and environmental groups shape environmental issues?

You'll have an opportunity to do so this fall, when two leading voices in environmental policy visit MSU's campus.

Jo Ellen Darcy, Army Corps of Engineers

Jo Ellen Darcy oversees the Army Corps of Engineers. At her confirmation hearing, the National Journal reported, "Darcy said her priorities would include modernizing crumbling national water infrastructure, preserving wetlands, and maintaining the nation's navigational system." She was previously senior environmental policy adviser to the U.S. Senate Finance Committee, and is a graduate of MSU's Resource Development program.

October 13, 2009

9 a.m. — 10:30 a.m.

273 Giltner (NE corner of the building)

Chris Wood, Trout Unlimited

Chris Wood is the Chief Operating Officer of Trout Unlimited. Previously, he was the senior policy and communications advisor to the Chief of the US Forest Service. He began his career as a temporary employee with Forest Service Research in Idaho and also worked for the Bureau of Land Management and for American Rivers, a river conservation group. He is, according to Trout Unlimited's Web site, "an avid fly fisher who even stalks the wily carp of Washington, DC."

November 24, 2009

9 a.m. — 10:30 a.m.

273 Giltner (NE corner of the building)

Come for coffee, bagels, and informal conversation about environmental jobs, issues, and anything else!

Please RSVP to mayaef@msu.edu or at www.espp.msu.edu/reg

Thanks to Mark Rey and the Department of Fisheries and Wildlife for bringing in these visitors!

Department of Fisheries and Wildlife

environmental science+ policy PROGRAM

CARRS
Community, Agriculture, Recreation and Resource Studies

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY